In Summer 2008 The Evansville Grove Society will host on a trial basis guided walking tours of a small section of the cities historical district. Tours will be offered on seven consecutive Saturdays in July & August. The first tour will be on Saturday, July 12th. The final tour will be on Saturday, August 23rd.

Tours will begin & end at the Eager Free Public Library - 39 W. Main Street, starting promptly at 10:00 AM & finishing approximately 60-90 minutes later. The total distance walked will be just under one mile. Historic buildings will be viewed from the sidewalk & terrace only. There will be no actual entry to any homes.

Reservations are not required. Simply show up at the designated starting point & look around or ask in the Library for the tour guide. Guides will make an effort of some sort to appear obvious. All inaugural season tours are free of charge.

Severe or dangerous weather may result in tour cancellation. Otherwise, tours will be conducted rain or shine. Mosquitoes are currently an issue. Long pants & sleeves and/or insect repellent is advised.

At tours end participants will be invited to patronize one of our local eateries. Copies of Historic Evansville - A Walker's Guide will be available for distribution to those who may wish to consider a self guided tour of Evansville's many other historic homes at some later point in time. Tour guides will also be able to provide information on various web site & library resources.
